

Part of the Billion Dollar Red Cross Unit Sews For Soldiers in John D.'s Home

The great war has brought together in indissoluble bonds of sympathy every class and condition of America. No real Americans have shirked their duty, and the millionaire and society leader have done their "bits" with as much enthusiasm as their humbler sisters and brothers.

In New York a billion stitches are being taken each day for the soldiers, and up on Fifth avenue there is a billion dollar Red Cross unit that is taking just as many stitches as nimble fingers will allow, to help along the good cause and provide bandages and other necessities for the soldiers.

The billion dollar unit is formed of parishioners of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, at which John D. Rockefeller is an attendant. Not long ago the billion dollar unit met in the dining room of the Rockefeller home and sewed diligently all afternoon. While the needles were flying the photographer snapped the group, which shows three generations of the Rockefeller family among the members of

THOUSANDS CHEER BILLY SUNDAY ON ARRIVAL IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 10.—Billy Sunday's first thought when he landed in Chicago yesterday to begin his ten weeks' battle with the hosts of evil was for the dry election slated for April 2.

"We don't want to win by fraud," said Sunday. "and we don't have to. We have the saloon groggy, gasping for breath. It's hanging to the ropes waiting for the bell."

But anti-saloon forces are fast losing ground in the election commission's count of signatures on the dry's petition. The wets have succeeded in scratching off 23,475 names in twenty-five of the thirty-five wards, leaving but 18,000 more to be invalidated by the commission to prevent the election.

Thousands jammed into the old Union Station for ring-side seats when Sunday danced into the arena. A choir came to sing tabernacle tunes and give Billy an official welcome but was swept aside by a mob which clogged lobbies, stairways, and sidewalks.

Some tried to sing, but mostly it was an organized, roaring-choir that rang in Billy's ears.

Billy's train was nearly two hours late, and waiting had been tiresome. But the early comers stuck and were joined by more thousands until the police gave up hope of keeping clear an alleyway.

Led by "Ma" Sunday and a guard of police, these evangelist's party, on arrival, plowed through the crowds to waiting automobiles.

Supply was taken to his temporary home, where an informal reception was held. He starts after the devil from the tabernacle platform today.

The names of sixteen members of the expeditionary force killed in action on different dates are announced by the War Department. The names of forty soldiers wounded in action also were included.

In announcing the list the War Department made the following statement:

"In order to relieve apprehension of relatives and friends of the soldiers whose names appear in the casualty list issued by the Adjutant General, it is stated that telegraphic notice is immediately given to the next of kin of the soldier named, and if persons most directly concerned regarding soldiers of like names fail to receive such notice, it is final evidence that they are not the soldiers whose names appear in the casualty lists."

THIEVES ROLL BOOZE FROM MOVING TRAIN

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 10.—Train robbers last night tried to make a wet haul from the Atlantic Coast Line by rolling several cases of whiskey from a moving train near this city. The thieves suffered a keen disappointment when they sought to gather up the spoils, for every case was smashed.

However, some of the small half pints escaped ruin, and it is presumed the thieves got away with several of these. The police recovered thirty half pints overlooked in the darkness.

KERENSKY AGAIN MAY BE RUSSIA'S MAN OF THE HOUR

LONDON, March 10.—Alexander F. Kerensky, former youthful premier of Russia, will be reinstated as leader of the Russian republic, if plans of the Constitutional Democrats and Social Constitutionalists are carried out. Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik commissary of foreign affairs, has been forced to resign as a result of the rise in power of the Social Constitutionalists, the party which overthrew the rule of Paul Milukoff and Prince Lvoff, leaders of the pre-Kerensky regime.

To Combine With Lvoff.

Dispatches from Petrograd and Moscow today indicate an incipient but well-defined movement for a combination of forces of anti-Bolshevik leaders in Russia with the provisional government established by Prince Lvoff in either Peking or Harbin, Manchuria. The government established by Lvoff, designed to extend its jurisdiction over all of Asiatic Russia, is understood to have the enthusiastic backing of Japan.

Kerensky has been seriously reported to be in hospital in Eastern European Russia, in Persia, in Finland, in Sweden, and even at the head of an army two hours' march from Petrograd.

Awaiting Opportunity.

His friends declare that the former premier has been at a tuberculosis hospital since his deposition and is only waiting a favorable opportunity to seize the reins of government.

Kerensky would have the backing of not only a large portion of the soldiers and peasants, but the bourgeoisie (the wealthier classes) and the Cossacks in the Don region.

GERMAN PLOTTING SAID TO HAVE PUT LENINE IN RUSSIAN SADDLE

AMSTERDAM, March 10.—Leon Trotsky has fallen a victim, it is believed in many circles, of the German government's revenge. His resignation as Bolshevik foreign minister was announced by himself in a speech before the Central Soviet at Petrograd. With him disappears from the controlling councils of Great Russia, the arch foe of autocracy.

Lenine in the Saddle.

In one quarter the theory is advanced that Trotsky deliberately sacrificed himself for his principles. It was Lenine who swung the Petrograd and Moscow Soviets to their overwhelming peace votes against Trotsky's fervent protests. It is now Lenine who is bending might and main to have the all-Russian Soviet's executive council ratify the peace treaty at Moscow Tuesday, again over Trotsky's head.

Foretold in Germany.

Significant in connection with the belief that Trotsky's resignation was demanded by Berlin is the fact that the event was foreshadowed a week ago in semi-official advices from the German capital. Kyslenko, another uncompromising enemy of the Germans, also had to go and his resignation, too, was "exclusively predicted" by Berlin.

Conclusion of peace between the Bolsheviks and Roumania was announced in Petrograd today.

POLICEMAN GIVEN SUSPENSION AFTER CAR TICKET DEAL

As the result of an alleged transaction by which, according to the police, he received at "attractive rates" about 100 street car tickets, said to have been stolen by a conductor from the Washington Railway and Electric Company, Policeman J. C. Faulkner, of the First precinct, is under suspension from the force.

Detectives Cornwall and Berman arrested Faulkner Friday at Fourteenth and H streets, where he was consuming a transaction involving money and unpunched tickets with Lloyd G. Sauls, a conductor, of 1411 Thirtieth street northwest.

Sauls was arrested on a charge of embezzlement. Faulkner is liable to action by the Police Trial Board and may be prosecuted for receiving stolen property. According to Cornwall, Faulkner, whose uniform enables him to ride free on street cars in the District, declared he was purchasing tickets for use by his family. Examination of the home of Sauls revealed 141 tickets not in strips, according to the headquarters men.

Captain Platter of the First precinct suspended Faulkner under orders of Major Pollman. He lives at 114 Baltimore avenue, Takoma Park, Md.

TERRIFIC GALE SWEEPS CAPITAL; COLDER TONIGHT

The towns of Holgate, Continental, and Halmur are reported entirely wrecked. Lima, Ohio, suffered great damage. Attica, Ind., was left in total darkness when fire caused by the storm destroyed the light and water works there. Other towns were also victims of the storm, the damage varying, depending on the velocity of the gale.

Telephone and telegraph wires were torn down throughout this section. Sleet and rain in Wisconsin and Minnesota later turned to a raging blizzard, playing a great part in the general demoralization of lines of communication.

Searching for Dead.

Milwaukee was isolated, except for underground wires to Chicago. Chicago streets were swept by bitter gales, with snow.

Farmers throughout the territory visited by the tornado are today organizing search parties, which are seeking in the ruins of destroyed farm houses for bodies.

Two known dead have been reported. They are Mrs. James Gayer and Rev. Lay, aged thirteen, both of Van Wert county. Reports of other deaths and many injuries are continuing to reach this city.

NEXT RED CROSS DRIVE ON MAY 30 FOR $100,000,000

The District of Columbia Chapter, American Red Cross, has been notified by national headquarters, through the Potomac division, that the next Red Cross financial campaign will take place the week beginning May 20, with $100,000,000 expected from the entire country and a half million dollars from the District of Columbia.

The District of Columbia chapter finance committee, Henry B. F. Macfarland, chairman, has been preparing since last November for the next drive in view of the possibility that it might occur in February or March, since it had to await the next Liberty loan campaign, and its date was uncertain. Therefore the District chapter finance committee would have been ready at any time.

The executive committee selected for the organization of plans for the new drive is composed of Henry B.

AMERICAN ARMY SOON TO TAKE OVER 100-MILE SECTOR

The first American field army, replacing a famous French corps, will soon take over a sector on the western front with a 100-mile frontage.

Under the new six corps field army plan reserve troops numbering 300,000 will be required. No commander has yet been chosen, though Generals Wood, Franklin Bell, and Liggett have been mentioned.

Under present plans the American army will hold a longer front by January next than the British held after two years of war.

TRAIN OF 22 BIG ARMY TRUCKS GOES THROUGH CAPITAL

En route from Detroit to Newport News, an army transport train of twenty-two giant Packard automobile trucks left Washington this morning to complete the last lap of the Southern journey. They were under charge of Capt. E. E. Markley, commanding the motor truck forces at Newport News.

The trucks reached Washington last night from Baltimore. After spending the night at Camp Meigs the thirty-five men comprising the complement inspected their machines and made ready to depart. Before beginning the remainder of the journey, Captain Markley visited several garages to purchase 500 gallons of gasoline to run the automobile trucks until the next stop. Captain Markley said the trucks will be used in hauling supplies at Newport News, which is a concentration point for overseas shipments of foodstuffs and other provisions. The party left Detroit ten days ago.
